

Selection Criteria for REC Chairs 2021-2024

1. Strong professional networks and linkages across the health sector especially within the REC's area of responsibility
2. Well informed of national and international developments in general practice within the REC's area of responsibility
3. Ability to research and analyse international trends in general practice
4. Specific experience and expertise within the various aspects of the REC's responsibility
5. Ability to lead and provide expertise to the development of RACGP position statements, submissions, guidelines, resources and other tools aimed at supporting the profession
6. Capacity to commit to the REC for the required duration and expected participation time over the three-year term, including provision of advice and comment on position and consultation documents
7. Ability to represent the RACGP at various fora and meetings within the REC Chair's area of expertise
8. Experience and ability to work in a multidisciplinary group/committee through building collaboration
9. Current financial member of RACGP

When submitting an application:

- Please outline years of membership and contribution on a current or previous RACGP Expert Committee, National Standing Committee, Faculty Board, other RACGP Committees and working groups, and/or as an RACGP Representative to an external organisation
- Outline why you are an appropriate person for the role
- Provide three priorities for the direction you intend to take the committee