Preparation for RACGP examinations

The Royal Australian College of General Practitioners (RACGP) Queensland will conduct a workshop to assist candidates in their preparation for the Applied Knowledge Test (AKT) and Key Feature Problems (KFP) components of the RACGP Fellowship examinations. This workshop will be facilitated by the RACGP Queensland Assessment Panel Chair, Dr Christopher Pitt.

These workshops are for registered medical practitioners who are enrolled or planning to enrol in the RACGP Fellowship examinations in 2019.2. They are designed to reinforce, and extend on, the content of the new Exam Support Online ALM, found on gplearning. Completion of these modules are a prerequisite for workshop attendance.

Places are limited, and participants are encouraged to register early to avoid disappointment. A light lunch will be provided during the session.

Learning objectives

At the end of the workshop, participants will be able to:

- recognise the importance of clinical reasoning and exam technique in AKT and KFP examination success
- develop a personalised approach to AKT and KFP questions, including exam timing
- develop a personalised study plan, utilising recommended resources.
