Northern Territory A unique and rewarding opportunity like no other

Are you a GP registrar looking to advance your career with new experiences, rewarding challenges, where you make a real difference?

The Northern Territory Placement Support Grants offer an incredible opportunity to gain first-hand experience in rural and remote medicine. By working in the NT, you can have unique placements, work closely with diverse populations, and make a meaningful impact on underserved communities.

Choosing to do all, or even part, of your training in a rural or remote setting offers numerous benefits:

- make a real difference to a community, even if it is for a short time
- build and broaden your skills and expertise in key clinical areas
- benefit from being part of a collegiate team of doctors, nurses and Aboriginal Health Practitioners
- enjoy being part of a smaller community and the perks of the NT lifestyle

“The most rewarding part of working in a remote clinic is being part of the community and working in a team with others to make changes to their life and their lifestyle that flow onto the rest of their family and community as a whole.”
